

Adam C. Doerr is an Associate in the St. Louis, Missouri, office of Jackson Lewis P.C., a nationwide law firm with more than 800 attorneys exclusively representing management in the workplace. He represents management in labor and employment matters before state and federal courts, administrative agencies and arbitrators.

Mr. Doerr's practice involves representing clients in all phases of litigation. Mr. Doerr's experience includes representing clients in cases involving wrongful termination, discrimination, harassment, and retaliation under various federal and state civil rights laws. He has also represented clients in appeals, including cases before the Missouri Court of Appeals, Illinois Appellate Court, and Illinois Supreme Court.

Mr. Doerr also trains and counsels clients with respect to labor-management relations matters and best practices, and has successfully represented clients in labor arbitrations, grievance resolutions, unfair labor practice charges, contract negotiations and union organizing campaigns for both private and public sector clients. He has represented clients before labor arbitrators, the National Labor Relations Board, and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.